INVITATION LETTER

NEW YORK CONFERENCE ON WELL-BEING AND THE PERSON

Dear Friends and Colleagues:

The International Network for Person-Centered Medicine and the Anthropedia Foundation are pleased to invite you to participate in a dialogue about personal well-being. To facilitate this discussion we have organized a conference with a special format in which speakers will give brief presentations followed by extended discussion with all participants. As a result we are eager for you to attend and to participate by sharing your insights and comments, your hopes and vision on the future of psychiatry and medicine.

The objectives of the Conference are:

- To examine the meaning and dimensions of well-being and health,
- To examine the importance of well-being as a focus of clinical activities,
- To explore the basis of well-being in physical, emotional, and social life,
- To develop the person-centered approach to psychiatry and medicine,
- To design tools and procedures for person-centered care

An international group of distinguished speakers will participate including Robert Cloninger (St. Louis), Eric Cassell (NY), Michel Botbol (Paris), Ihsan Salloum (Miami), Juan Mezzich (NY), Tom Sensky (London), Angel Otero (Havana), James Appleyard (London), Claudio Banzato (Brazil), Lauren Munsch (NY), Laurence Kirmayer (Montreal), Kevin Cloninger (NY), Sita Kedia (Denver), Wolfgang Rutz (Uppsala, Sweden), Luis Salvador-Carulla (Cadiz, Spain).

All discussion will focus on assessing critically where we are now and where we need to go to improve health care in psychiatry and medicine. We suggest that future medical care can be enhanced by focus on the health of the whole person, including development of physical, emotional, social, cognitive, and spiritual well-being. How this broad view of person-centered care can be translated into practical health care in different health systems around the world presents many conceptual, practical, and ethical questions. We expect the discussions to be exciting and important for a review of health care reform in the USA and around the world.

We warmly invite you to join us and share your thoughts with us. As space is limited, advance registration is required, free of charge, first come first served, by contacting <acollins@anthropedia.org>.

Cordially yours,

Robert Cloninger, M.D. and Juan Mezzich, M.D., Ph.D.
